Document title   : GUIDELINES FOR CODING

1. Naming conventions should be followed.
2. Proper indentation at appropriate locations should be followed.
3. Comments should be relevant, adequate and self-explanatory.
4. Information about the author and the module should be adequately described at the beginning of the programme.
5. All variables used in the programme should be explicitly declared before the using the variables.
6. Linking of function definitions and functional declarations should be properly done.